I took a dollar's worth of nature's sweet restorer. Then I took breakfast and bought a stage ticket for Helena, Montana. The fare was $65 in greenbacks. I told the agent "that they never charged over ten cents for the longest stage ride in New York, and I thought I was entitled to $64.50 change." but I didn't get it. At 650 A. big the curled hair from the bottom of it in a briarwood ploe. It was a touching scene. I offered him seme tobacco, but he had smoked curled hair so long he preferred it. I do pity that man's wife for her furniture's sake when he gets home. We reached Black Hock, another home station, at 3 P. M., took dinner, and rode through an Indian reservation. The Snakes and Bannach so coupy it. If I was a Snake I should prefer to be a Bannach, and if a Bannach I should prefer to be a Snake. I got close to one of em. Not the kind for tea or turkey dressing. That night reached Pleasant Valley, half way to Helena. Crossed the Rocky Mountains at noon of the fourth day. Reached Red Buttes—a pile of red rocks in the prairie. Dined on trout, quall. &c. Not the first time I'd qualled since leaving C.

A Strange Case of Someambullam.

From the Hartford Courant.

Mrs. James Riley of New Haven, who wandered away from her home in her night clothes on Sunday night, was found by a policeman at 8 o'clock on Monday evening leaning over the railing of the draw of the East Chapel street bridge. Besides her scanty clothing she wore a pair of rubber boots. When she had sufficiently recovered she said she must have been asleep, as she does not remember leaving the house. She crawled beneath the drawbridge and lay all day upon a beam fitteen inches wide, while the dark waters of Mill river ran but a few feet beneath her. Once during the day she remembered having her senses. Then she heard footsteps, and volces saying Jim Riley's wife was being sought for. Some snell that could not be broken impelled her to silence. Foot and hand prints were found in the snow on the timbers of the drawbridge, where she had climbed down and crawled in beneath, and prints were also found where she had crawled out on the opposite side of the draw. The place where she remained all day she could hardly have retained in her right mind. Her wanderings are attributed to a sudden and strange attack of somnambulism.

CONSUMPTIVE REMEDY

Consumption is NOT an incurable disease. Physiclans assure us of this fact. It is only necessary to have the RIGHT REMEDY, and the terrible malady can be conquered.

Hall's Balsam is this Remedy.

It breaks up the NIGHT SWEATS, relieves the OPPRESSIVE TIGHTNESS ACROSS THE LUNGS, and heals the lacerated and exceriated surfaces which the venom of the disease produces.

While Life Lasts there is Hope.

It may not be too late to effect a cure even AFTER THE DOCTORS HAVE GIVEN YOU UP.

Hall's Balenm is sold everywhere, and may be had at wholesale of the PROPERETORS, JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., at their great Medicine Warehouse, 8 and 9 College place, New York. Price 9:
